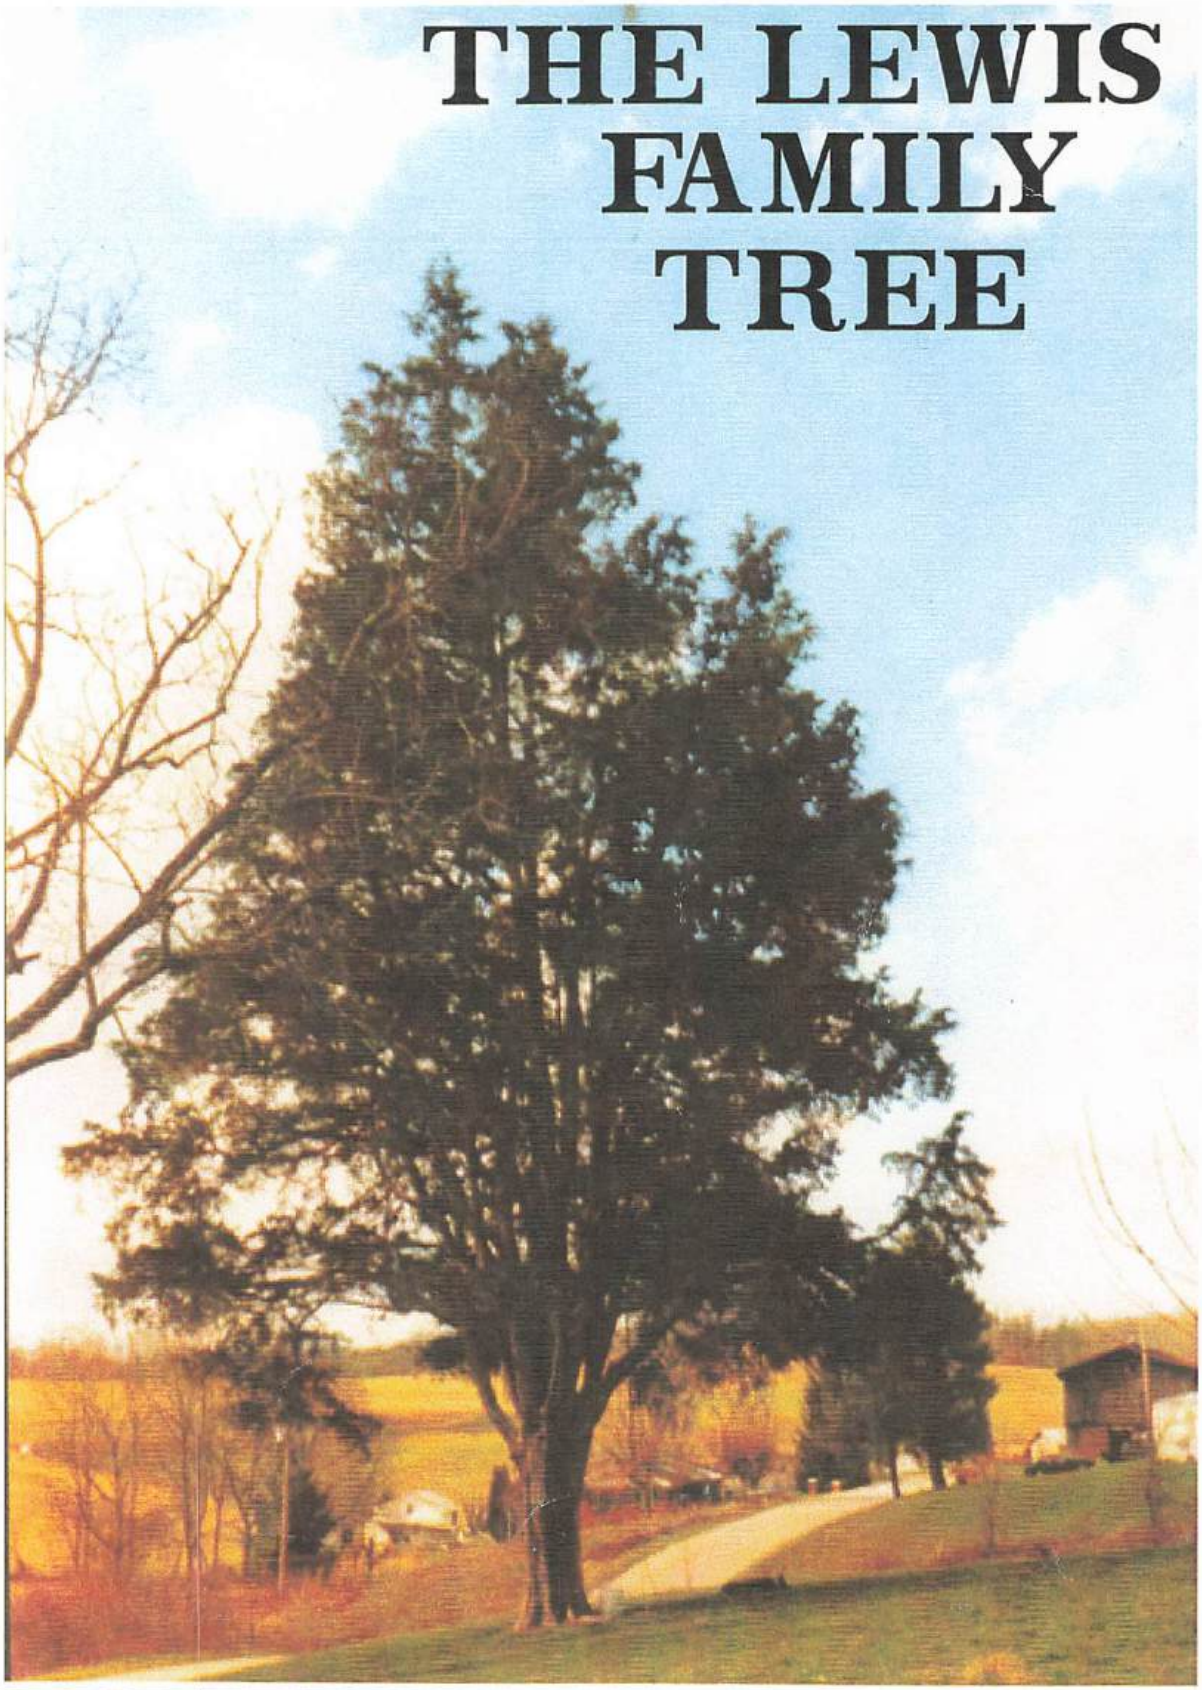
THE LEWIS FAMILY TREE



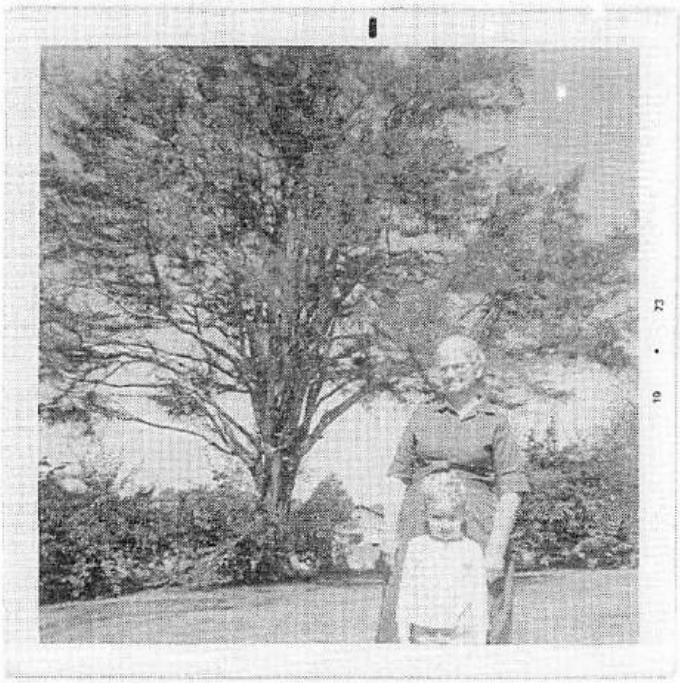
Ivory Jewel Lewis Blevins

I've always wondered who my ancestors were and where they came from. I started out by asking my Great Uncles and Aunts what they knew. I waited too late to collect anything from my Grand parents. My Aunt Maye Patrick and I visited old cemeteries, libraries and court houses. This has been a long process. My house burned and destroyed everything I'd gathered. I gave Maye Patrick a copy of what I had, except my notes where I had collected my information from. She made me copies of what she got. I put it away and didn't work on it for several years. Maye Kept after me to finish it, as she had a lot of miles invested in it too. I hope everyone will enjoy this and look over the mistakes. as I am not a writer. I just want to put this together, so in time it would not be lost. I want to think Trish, my nephew, Doug Mckinney's wife, for helping me with the typeing.

The cover photo was taken by Ivory Jewel Blevins in May 1998. The cedar tree was set out by Willie S. Lewis in 1900. He was 12 years old when he brought it in and set it out in the yard of the old home place at Blaze, Morgan Co., KY. Where he was born and raised. The house is pictured on page 21 in this book.

Sometimes I think if an old house or tree could talk, what stories could be passed down from generation to generation.

This old tree has withstood many wind and ice storms. We had 3 real bad ice storms, 1 in 1994 and 2 smaller ones the next year. I live about 3 miles from the old home place, and we had a tornado through here about 8 years ago, that tore a lot of trees down around here. But the old tree is still standing and in good shape.



Maye Lewis Patrick and Grandson, David Patrick standing in front of this tree, taken in 1973. She was the daughter of Willie S. and Cordelia Maye Peyton Lewis.

PREFACE

The study of family history, or a person's ancestors, and where they came from is perhaps one of the most ancient of human interest. In one form or another it has found its way into countless varities of written records.

In Pioneer days and earliest times, ancestors and accounts of their exploits, characters, and general lives were the subjects of poems, songs, and tales, probably beyond number. Those timeless tales of ancient warriors and heroes abound with what we today could only call genealogy.

As our ancestors progressed and developed the art of making figures and symbols, the traditions and tales of earlier times were rendered into different forms of written records. Genealogy too, followed the same pattern, and in fact, constitutes a great part of some of the earliest records of which we have knowledge. The descendants of Adam, for example, described in the Fifth Book of Genesis, date from the 2nd. millennium before Christ.

Genealogy is the study of individual people and their relationships within the social unit of the family; it parallels, and in some degree, reflects the history of mankind. Almost every great civilization on earth has found root in the organization of the family, and thus, each history is composed of many family histories and even today it may be seen that the history of America is not dissimilar to the history of any of our great colonial American families. In some cultures, genealogy has had importance to the religious customs and beliefs of the people.

Genealogy is likewise an important adjunct to the study and practice of law. Legal developments in areas of inheritance estates are principally founded on family history as it is expressed in such documents, as wills and land grants.

Undoubtedly, the greatest thing toward development of genealogy and family history has been common curiosity. People have been, and will always be curious about those distant figures who bore their name. The history of those ancestors records the origins of their family names, the basis of their family traditions, indeed, in some cases, even reasons for their very existence. And such curiosity is in fact a healthy and vital thing.

This book is a small, but important record of the members of the Lewis family and other families who were connected with the Lewis' through marriage. This collection was made possible by the descendants of our forefathers who were willing to share their time and pictures, some even their memories, and other material handed down from grandparents and great grandparents. Lucy Lewis Morgan is one of such people that I talked with. She is 83 years old and lives at Yocum, Ky. Her mind is still rich with memories of some of the older ones who have gone on. She is a great grand-daughter of Revolutionary war soldier, Thomas Lewis, from Wales. Others who contributed in materials were: Mr. and Mrs. Ernist Lewis and Bonnie Ruth of Wrigley, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gevedon of Grassy Creek, Ky., Stella Fannin of West Liberty, Ky., Polly Ann Oakley of Clearfield, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Troy Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Orby Hall of Morehead, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Clay Lewis of Zag, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Ohmer Lewis of Yocum, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Walker Mann and Mrs. Harold McKinney of Kalacy, Ky., Mrs. Lillie Lewis Fairchilds of Blaze, Ky., and daughters Reva Peyton of Florida, Verna Sargent of Ohio, Mrs. Mattie Bishop, and Mrs. Lena Lewis of Blaze, Ky., Mrs. Juanita Johnson of Pomp, Ky., Mrs. Jean Burchet of Morehead, Ky.

This family record is dedicated to those now living, in hopes that they will enjoy it and in doing so, will pass it down to their children and grandchildren.

In reading this book, it may help you to know, that all the names in bold letters are the ancestral lineage of Willie Samuel and Cordelia Maye Peyton Lewis. Also the names I have marked in parenthesis after a person's name, is that person's ancestors. For example, using my own name, Ivory Jewel Lewis Blevins, (Mervil, Willie, Gardner H., Tillman A., Gardner H., Thomas Lewis.) This is the direct lineage down to me.

In writing these names and dates, I have also included our grandmothers' side too; which would be as close a relation to us, as would our grandfathers' side. Each time that I brought it down to one of our grandmothers, I would go back as far on her side that I had knowledge on. I had to do it this way, to have both sides compiled in one book.

There may be mistakes in copying dates that were hard to read from old tombstones and old hand written documents; if anyone should find such a mistake, please write to me, so I can make a correction.

Genealogy of the Lewis Family Name

Authorities agree that, since the beginning of human existence in the darkness of prehistory, every race of man has employed some kind of primitive name or other vocative sound to identify various members of the community. Over thousands of years of social and cultural progress these 1st names have evolved into the forms we reconize today as the given name of the family or surname.

The family of Lewis is a good example of this evolutionary nature of names. It is very possible that the Lewis line of ancestors can be traced back farther than any other name in America. Many names are old, but the Lewis line of descendants is ancient. It dates back to Roman times and perhaps through the royal house of the Welsh to hundreds of years before Christ.

The Barbarians pushed into Europe, and in about the year 1000 B.C., they first learned to use iron. Some even passed off the continent in small boats made of hides, and conquered prehistoric Britain. A branch of these barbarians called the Brythonic and Goidelian celts, were the ancestors of the Lewis families today. They settled in Mountains of Wales, the land of the most adventurous and the most free. And for a thousand years they answered to no man except their own Kings.

Then right around the birth of Christ, a first real historical individual, a distant ancestor of the Lewis descendants today, came forward into the lens of history. His name was Cymbeline. William Shakespeare wrote a play about him over 400 years ago.

Cymbeline was an ancient king of Wales and a famous Welsh hero, he was the husband of Cartismanda, the Queen of the Brigantes. Though unconquered in his high Welsh Mountains he nevertheless was a prudent ruler and allied himself with the Romans. Rome was in the process of conquering Britain during the reign of Augustus Caesar.

One of Cymbeline's sons was Caradwg. He was married to an incredibly beautiful woman named Tegas Euvren which means "Golden Beauty." Caradwg led the forces of free Wales to resist the imperialism of Roman aggression.

His army fought for nine long years before the Roman legions took the young man and his family to Rome in chains.

The Emperor was so amazed at the courage and eloquence of the young enemy that he pardoned him and his family and released them from their chains. He then returned to Wales. While in Rome he learned of Christianity, possibly from St. Peter or St. Paul who preached and were martyred there during the time of Nero.

Caradwg and his family may very well have been among the earliest Christians in all Britain. The Welsh people were Pagan Worshipers.

A child of Caradwg and Tegas, was Teon, Princess of Britain. Teon's son was Gwathford. For the next 15 generations his descendants watched the Roman power slowly crumble. Once more the Welsh were free men.

All the Lewis' of Wales are descendants of Gwathford. When Rome fell one of Gwathford's descendants of the 15 generations was named Richard Guynn. He had a son named Lewis and this Lewis founded the family name through his several sons.

Since these Lewis' were men of power, their name alone carried such prestige that it amounted to a title in itself.

I do not have record of how many generations there were between Lewis, the one that founded the family name, and Thomas Lewis born May 3, 1755, a native of Wales. Thomas emigrated to Va., then later came into Morgan Co., Ky., where he died. He is buried in the Green Lewis Cemetery near Pomp, Morgan Co., Ky.

Descendants of Revolutionary War soldier, Thomas Lewis from Wales, have a large ancestry connection with the other first pioneer families, especially those of Thomas Caskey, Gardner Hopkins, John Perry, John Nickell, James S. Elliott, Matthew Amick (Amyx), Joseph Carter, Daniel Peyton, and John Henry Sr. The marriages are so interelated that it is impossible to write the story of one of the families without including the others.

The Lewis Family Coat of Arms

Some of the early records of the Lewis name are found in medival tax and chuch records. In 1790 the name Lewis was the twenty-first most common name in America. Today it is the nineteenth most common. In 1964, the United States Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Social Security Administration did a study of the distribution of the surnames in the Social Security account number file. The study revealed the Lewis family to have 457,900 members old enough to have obtained a social security number by 1964.

The study of Coats of Arms and Armorial Bearings, is likewise a useful tool in the study of family history. Coat of arms, properly called armorial bearings, originated during the First Crusade in 1097. According to most authorities, the Europeans, who took part in this march to secure the Holy Land from the Turkish Saracens, were surprised to learn that the Asian warriors employed military tactics far superior to anything previously seen in Europe. A peculiar characteristic of the Asian armies, was the use of shields marked by particular designs and colors. Such shields served the purpose of organization and identification so as to prevent accidental destruction of allied forces.

Gradually, the use of the designs on shields and other armor found its way into the traditions of European armies.

The designs including stripes and crosses, were probably chosen 1st, because they were conspicuous and easily recognizable. The designs consisting of representations of animals and physical objects, probably did not come into use until well into the twelfth century, about the time of the growing use of surnames.

The practical use of armorial bearings, is namely for identification in battle; it declined rapidly with the advent of gunpowder in warfare, in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries. However, these historic family emblems were retained by constant hereditary use.

Heraldry is the handmaiden of genealogy precisely because of this hereditary or constant useage. In medival times, the shield generally represented the family, and the figure which is mounted above the shield, generally represented a particular son in the family. In many cases these insignia are the only identification caracters which have survived the ravages of time. Often found pressed into wax on faded documents, carved into marble headstones, or rendered in paintings of woodwork, armorial insignia help establish family connection other wise lost to the ages.

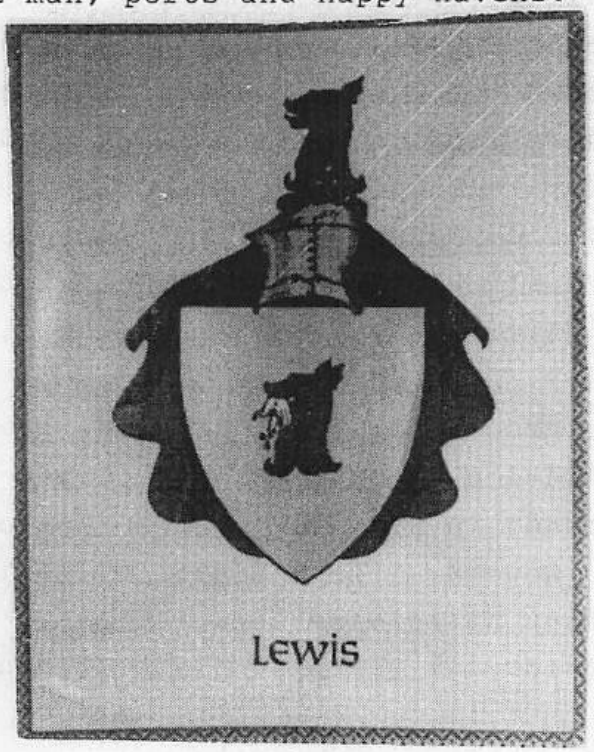
In America, where no such authority has ever existed, many families are nonetheless bearers of armorial insignia with genuine origins. Heraldry is important in establishing family connections. The Armorial bearings of the Lewis family have such importance. The dragon device is one of the oldest insignia.

Arms: On a silver field a green dragon's head with a ragged neck, holding a bleeding hand of natural colors in its mouth.

Crest: A green dragon's head with a ragged neck.

Motto: Every land is a brave man's country, perhaps Shakespear was thinking of the Welsh Cymbeline when he wrote "All places that the eye of heaven visits are to a wise man, ports and happy havens."

This is the major armorial bearing of the Lewis family of Wales.



Settlement of Colonial America

In May, 1607, a small group of Englishmen financed and directed by the Virginia Company of London, stepped ashore near the mouth of the James River in what is today, the state of Va., and established the 1st permanent colonial settlement in America. This settlememt led others along the coast of Va., and later Mass. Soon a torrent was unleashed, and by 1641, 80,000 Englishmen, for one reason or another, had crossed the Atlantic Ocean and sought a new life in the New world.

A question of much concern to many, interested in their families' histories is: who were these people, these founding fathers and why did they choose life in the wilderness of N. America among the Indians, rather than life in England.

Tradition holds that the early colonists were religious refugees from a dictatorial and unyielding monarchy which refused to acknowledge their basic religious rights. This tradition is right and wrong at the same time, for though most colonists were Protestants fleeing the Conformity of Englands State Church, theirs was a flight which arose from a multiplicity of matters besides religion.

Beginning in 1517, Martin Luther, a Protestant, began preaching a doctrine of salvation through individual conscience.

Throughout the mid-sixteenth century the English religion swayed back and forth, tending in some aspects toward Catholicism and in others toward Protestantism.

Another disruption between the king and the Englishmen, was that they refused to give the king the power to tax individuals, which would have reached deep into the pockets of the laboring class.

Thirdly, and concurrent to the rise of differences in religious beliefs in England and inflation in the world economy, the Industrial Revolution led directly to great unemployment, particulary among the rural laborers. These people were forced into idleness by goverment policies, which had enclosed the previously open fields of England in order to create land suitable not for farming, but for raising the great flocks of sheep necessary to support the English wool industry. Pressed by rising inflation, without work, and often in opposition to the state religion, the laboring poor of England, were early 1600's easily inclined to consider immigration to a new land. It was the only solution to an intolerable situation.

Thus, a combination of political, economic, and religious factors influenced greatly the developments which gave rise to the English Colonies in N. America.

The 1st group to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the New World, was the Puritans, who quickly saw the land as an ideal location for their "strong beliefs in religion." In America, removed from the influences and structures of the Angelican Church, they could dedicate themselves fully to practicing their beliefs, rather than criticizing and trying to reform the English Church.

The English Colonies encouraged rapid settlements, mostly populated by non-puritans Englishmen of the field and merchants.

Meanwhile, political events in England soon created more chaos in the country. Parliament and the king came to an impose over the issue of taxation and royal finances, and seeing the opportunity, English Puritans joined the anti-monarchial forces; King Charles 1, attempted to force loans from the recalcitrant gentry and commercial class. The gentry refused, and King Charles became desperate for money. Soon the issue was forced by religious troubles in Scotland and Ireland, and in 1642, civil war erupted.

The war generally pitted Roundheads (Parliamentarians and Puritans) against Calvaliers (supporters of the King). For seven years it raged back and forth across the countryside. The Puritan leader, Oliver Cromwell, and his armies, finally gained victory at Morston Moor and subsequently beheaded the King.

It is presistently held tradition, that my 7th great grandfather Theophilus Whaley, born 1616, was one of the Reg. Judges that signed the death warrant of King Charles 1.

The greatest number of colonists were simple men of the field, who were forced from the land by the Enclosure Act, and wished to avoid the grinding poverty of life in the cities, chose to endure the voyage to America and the uncertain future which beckoned.

Generally, these emigrants were people in early middle life, possibly married with a few small children. Their passage was financed by indenture, a system of guasi-slavery in which they offered 4 to 7 years to a colonial master, in return for payment of their fare.

The 1st Lewis emigrant came to the New World and settled there at an extremely early date. "This is not our ancestor, as far as I know." He predated the Mayflower by 3 years. Roger Lewis, a young man of 19, sailed from England aboard the Edwin, in 1617, and landed in the Va. Colony. There, he was probably an indentured servant to a widow named Mrs. Mary Maddison. Roger is listed in 1623, as living on W. and Shirlow's 100 Island in Va. He became quite successful as the years passed and married a girl named Mary. They had two sons and three daughters and moved to Md., where Roger Lewis once worked as an indentured servant. America gave that young man many gifts for his hopes in it, over 350 years ago.

However, it was over 100 years later, before our ancestor Thomas Lewis, from Wales, born May 3, 1755, came to America, he is the oldest one I have been able to trace a straight line back to.

Life in the New World

Jamestown was the 1st permanent English Colony in America. The 1st colonists, all men and boys, landed on Jamestown Island on May 14, 1607. They set out to build a fortified outpost from which they could explore Va. and trade with the indians.

The Jamestown settlers expected to find gold and other treasures in the wilderness, but they found none. There was nothing they could send back to England for sale except some lumber products. Around 1612, the colonists learned how to raise and cure tobacco. The export of the tobacco helped to save the Colony, by providing a way for the colonists to support themselves.

Many serious difficulties almost ruined the settlement. The region was swampy and unhealthful. During the first year, about two-thirds of the settlers died of disease or starvation. More settlers were sent to Jamestown, but food was still scarce. So many died in 1609, that the year became known as the Colony's "starving time."

Indian attacks added to the difficulties in founding the Colony. The attacks stopped after the settlers signed a treaty in 1614 with Chief Powhatan, whose daughter Pocahonas, had married John Rolf. But the Indians broke the treaty after Powhatans' death in 1618. They killed many settlers in a massacre in 1622.

In spite of many tragedies and hard times, Jamestown survived. Farmers and their families replaced the explorers and traders. The Va. Company also sent young women to Jamestown to marry the bachelors of the Colony. There were two cheif reasons for the survival of the Jamestown Colony. First, the colonists learned how to produce their own food, such as grain, cattle, hogs, chickens, sheep, fruits, and vegetables. In the fields and woodlands, they hunted deer, pigeons, squirrels, wild turkey and other game. From the river and ocean waters, they took clams, oysters, lobster, and many kinds of fish. Second family life developed after women settled in the Colony. They made their own clothes. On small farms, the women planted and tended a patch of flax, harvested the crop, spun the yarn, and wove it into linen. They wove woolen cloth from yarn spun from the fleece of sheep. Linens and woolens were colored with dyes made from certain barks, berries, roots, or walnut hulls. The colonists tanned cowhide and deerskin, and made the leather into shoes or leggins.

The homemade furnishings of the settlers were plain and strong. Thick wooden planks, set on sturdy supports, served as a table. Blocks of wood, small barrels, or rough benches and canvas bags, stuffed with straw and placed on the floor or on bedsteads made of log slabs.

Life in most colonial homes centered around the fireplace. The women prepared food there, and cooking utensils hung nearby. The fireplace provided most of the family's heat and light, and everyone gathered in front of it to eat, work, relax, or entertain visitors. A spinning wheel stood on the hearth.

The first cottages of Jamestown and Plymouth had thatched roofs, like English cottages. After the colonists found wood more plentiful than reeds or straw, wood shingles replaced thatch.

The Swedish colonists who came to Delaware in 1638, built the first log cabins in America. The log cabin became the typical home of the pioneers who moved westward. Many cabins didn't even have a floor, and the windows were just small openings in the logs; they had a shutter to close at night. They didn't have glass then, unless they sent to England for it. Some of the more wealthier families built better homes and had more, so they were able to send for things they needed, from England.

Theophilus Whaley, born 1616 in England, came to Va. while quite young and served a military capacity, but soon returned to England and was and officer in the Parlimentary Army in 1649.

I have record of my 7th great grandfather William Hopkins living in America in 1657. Joseph Carter 1, my 6th great grandfather, came to America in 1687. Phillip Peyton 11, my 6th great grandfather, born in England, came to Stafford Co., Va. and died in 1730. I do not have record of what year in between those two dates he immigrated. Peter Chastain born 1660, my 7th great-grandfather, came to Va. about 1700. It is said that Peter was the Captain of one of the ships that brought Huguenots to this country. So when you read about Jamestown and the earlier settlers and how they lived, you are reading about our fore-fathers.

The settlement of America increased rapidly during the late 1600's and 1700's. Most of the new immigrants made their homes in the Middle Colonies, but others settled in New England or the Southern Colonies. The immigrants included large groups of Germans and Scotch-Irish. Like many of the early settlers, these groups had fled hard times and religious persecutions in Europe. The Germans became known as the best farmers among the colonists. The Scotch-Irish won fame as the best Indian Fighters.

The birth rate in America during the 1700's was probably higher than that of any other country. As a result of this high and increased immigration, the population of the Colonies grew rapidly. It was about 250,000 in 1700, and increased to more than 1 million by 1750. The population doubled to over 2 million by 1770, and in 1775, there were nearly 2,500,000 persons in the Colonies.

As the population of the Colonies increased, explorers set out to find a trail through the Appalachian Mountains into Ky.

Most of the early settlers rarely traveled far from home, as land transportation was slow and difficult. The first colonial roads were merely paths that followed ancient Indian trails through the woodlands. The colonists widend the paths for travel on horseback, and later for carts or wagons pulled by horses or oxen.

The colonists put much effort into building roads. They found Cumberland Gap, a natural pass through the Appalachian, at the meeting point of Va., Ky., and Tenn. The gap was used as a gateway to the West by pioneer settlers. Between 1775 and 1880, about 200,000 persons passed through the gap. The gap is 1,600 ft. above sea level, cutting through the 2,000 to 3,000 foot Cumberland Mountains. It is narrow, and has steep sides about 500 ft. high.

John D. and Elizabeth Nickell Perry, my third great-grandparents came to Ky., by horseback in Nov. 1797. They and their three children came from Va. to Mount Sterling, Ky., in Montgomery Co. They moved to Floyd Co. in 1806, (which is now Morgan Co.) and appeared in the 1810 census.

Though coming from the large plantations of Va.'s working class, it is important to realize that these people, once in Ky., shortly became the large farmers, and successful merchants of Ky.

Genealogical Dictionary R. I. by Austin (Page 221.)

Theophilus Whaley "age 104 yrs." born 1616, died 1720, married Elizabeth Mills or Wells, born 1645, died 1715. He is said to have been of wealthy parents and to have had a college education in support of which he is quoted as saying that until he was 18 years old he didn't know what it was to have a servant to attend him with a silver ewer and napkin whenever he wanted to wash his hands.

He came to Va. before he had reached his majority and served there in a military Capacity, but he soon returned to England and was an officer in the Parlimentary Army, in 1649. His regiment took part in the execution of King Charles 1 of England. He left England again and married while in Va. where part of his children were born. About 1680 he then came to Kingstown, R.I. His departure from Va. came by a difference in religious views from his neighbors, because he was a Baptist then. His residence was near the head of Pettaquamacut Pond in what is now S. Kingstown, R.I. He lived then by fishing, weaving, and teaching, being conservant with Hebrew, Greek, Latin, etc. His services as a penman were brought into requisition by executing the deeds and papers of his neighbors. The visists of distinguished men from Boston and other places, and his silence in regard to his previous history, perhaps accounts for the persistently held tradition that he was one of the Reg. Judges that had signed the death warrant of King Charles 1. Much of mystery still clings to history not withstanding the great service done by Rev. Dr. Stills in his account of this interesting personage. The town records give but sparce items concerning him and he seemed to shrink from public, though he occasionally appeared as a witness to a will or deed.

He moved in the latter part of his life to the house of his son-in-law Joseph Hopkins in what is now W. Ger. He was buried with military honors on Hopkins Hill in W. Ger.

Children of Theophilus and Elizabeth Whaley:

1. Joan Whaley.
2. Ann Whaley, "unmarried."
3. Theodsia Whaley, married July 15, 1697 to Robert Spencer, born 1674, died 1748.
4. Elizabeth Whaley, married Charles Hazelton.
5. Martha Whaley, born 1680, died 1773?, married first to Joseph Hopkins, died 1735, married second to Robert Spencer, born 1674, died 1748, no children by Robert Spencer. Children on page 14.
6. Lydia Whaley, married John Sweet.
7. Samuel Whaley, married first __?__ Hopkins, daughter of Samuel and Susannah Hopkins; married second Patience Hearhden, she was originally from Rapp Co., Va.

The Hopkins Family.

William Hopkins, died Nov. 5, 1688 at Roxbury, Mass., married Hannah Goff, died 1678. He was made a grave digger at Roxbury, Mass. in the year of 1657.

Children of William and Hannah Goff Hopkins:

1. William Hopkins.
2. Hannah Hopkins, born Jan. 3, 1657.
3. Thomas Hopkins.
4. Mary Hopkins, died 1678.
5. Ebenzer Hopkins, died 1674.
6. Joseph Hopkins, died 1735 at Greenwich, R.I. See page 14.

William the son of William Sr. was a soldier in 1676 at Northampton, under Capt. Turner, killed by the Indians that year. Thomas was working for Wadsworth's Company and was killed by Indians on April 21, 1676.

Following is the will of Joseph Hopkins dated May 15, 1735.

To my wife Martha Hopkins, best room in my dwelling house, one cow, two hogs, and the keeping of said hogs and cow during her natural life and all my household goods, or movables, in lieu of her third dowry in my estate.

To my son Joseph, five shillings.

To my sons William, Samuel and hiers, my household farm to be divided equally: "It takes 20 shillings to make 1lb. $3.22 8/10 in American money."

Lewises

The name Lewis is known throughout the foothills country from the Pound Gap on the Va. border to the Ohio River.

After the end of the Revolutionary War several soldiers who had been engaged in that memorable struggle, emigrated to and settled in Morgan Co., and it is a matter of congratulation and pride that their descendants are here today to commemorate their sainted memories; their names were David Ellington, Benjamin Hamilton, Thomas Lewis, John Kelly, Isaac Keeton, John Prewett, Levi Stevenson, John Smuthers, Gilbert Stevens, Benjamin Wages, Joseph Carter Sr., Arch Day, Gardner Hopkins and Ambrose Jones, all of whom have passed away.

"On fame's eternal camping ground, their silent tents were spread,
And glory guards with solemn,
round the bivouac of the dead."

"Nor wreck, nor change, nor winter's blight,
nor times remorseless doom,
Can dint one ray of Holy light, that coils their glorious tombs."

Early records show in 1787 surveying parties traveled through what would become Morgan Co., (in 1822-23) acquiring public lands; other early visitors included the Hamilton brothers, James and John, in 1793 and Daniel Boone. Peter Amyx was an early surveyor and Thomas Lewis, who was a native of Wales, born in 1755 and died in 1849. He had scouted for the Va. Line during the War of Independance, after which he settled in Morgan Co. to become a leading citizen and farmer.

Settlers followed the surveyors into Morgan Co. around 1800, the exact date is unkown. The first Pioneer settlers were the families of J. Lacy, Thomas Caskey, Gardner Hopkins, "Black" John Nickell, Thomas Lewis, John Perry, John Day, and William Wells.

At the time Thomas Lewis was making his way to what later would be Morgan Co., he was walking on land owned by Henry French of Mercer Co. The Lewises at one time could walk eight miles in a line on their own land and all of it once was the property of Henry French, including that land bought for West Liberty.

In Colonel Hazelrigg's address given at West Liberty July 4, 1876, in which he attempted to trace Morgan Co.'s first half century, he stated "It is an authentic fact that Thomas Lewis, Gardner Hopkins, Thomas Caskey, John Day, John Perry, John Nickell, Arch Day, John Lacy, William Wells, Edmund Wells, and Daniel Williams located here and made permanent improvements as early as the 1800's, some of them perhaps before that time."

William Lewis, second son of Thomas, was living at the time Colonel Hazelrigg made this speech and is a logical possibility that he could have been one of the sources consulted for some of the Co.'s early history, because Colonel Hazelrigg further states, "All the parties who participated in the organization of the Co. have gone to their reward except Edmund Vest and William Lewis. William Lewis is in his 90th year and is quite feeble in body yet his mind is sharp in memories of incidents connected with the early settlement of the Co."

Francis H. Lewis, oldest son of Thomas Lewis helped organize Morgan Co. and was the first Tax Commissioner. He was married to John Perry's daughter Eleanor. His second wife was Ellender daughter of Thomas Caskey.

Leaders in almost every walk of life in Eastern Ky. are found with the family name of Lewis. This family name is entwined with business, faming, and professions.

The name Lewis, to the Welsh people stood for Guardian or Listener. There were so many Thomas Lewis' in Ky. and Va. that in compiling family history it is easy to get confused and misled. There were four in the Revolutionary War, but both the pension application of Thomas Lewis and his wife Hannah (from Revolutionary War file W-9124, Washington D.C.) distinguished him from other Thomas Lewis' who have come from Va. to Ky.

Gardner Hopkins, also a Revolutionary War Veteran, and Thomas Lewis were brothers-in-law. We have Hannah's statement that she was Gardner's sister in a deposition made for Polly Hopkins when she filed for a widow pension.

From the accompanying copy of the application for a pension (Revolutionary War file W-9124) we know that Morgan Co.'s Thomas Lewis was living in Washington Co., Va., when he was drafted in 1776 at Abington and that he settled in Ky. on Dix River in 1782. (Part of the time he served as a spy or scout under Capt. A. Bowan, fought the Indians, and was in the Army under General George Rogers Clark.) From Hannah's pension application we know that he returned to Washington Co., Va. and married Hannah Hopkins, then a resident of that Co., on March 3, 1784 and they were married by a Baptist preacher, Thomas Woolsey. Census records show that they were living in Ky. when their oldest child Francis H. Lewis was born on March 3, 1786.

According to family tradition and some census records, the older members of Thomas Lewis's family who were born before 1800, were born in the Dix River area and Montgomery Co.

Thomas Caskey, whose daughter Ellen or Ellender, married Thomas Lewis's son Francis, was also the son-in-law of Gardner Hopkins. In a deposition of Gardner Hopkin's Revolutionary file, Thomas Caskey deposed that he became intimately acquainted with Gardner Hopkins and his family of Orange Co., N.Y., in 1788 and that he and Gardner's daughter Lydia were married Dec. 19, 1790 "in the same room of the house where her parents were married."

Collins History states that Thomas Lewis was a member of the first Constitutional Head at Danville, Ky. When the State records were burned at an early Courthouse in Lexington, Ky., Thomas Lewis was appointed by the Governor to help restore the records and statistics as near as they could be gathered. When Morgan Co. was organized as a Co. in 1822-23, Thomas Lewis was one of its organizers.

Thomas Lewis is my ancestor five different ways, through three of his sons, Francis H., William M, and Gardner Hopkins Lewis, and through a daughter Hannah Lewis that married John Caskey. Two of Hannah's sons, Robert and Miles were my mother, Hazel Maye Perkins Lewis's great grandfathers. Robert on her mother, Jenny Catherine Calvert Perkins's side, and Miles on her father, Clarence E. Perkins's side.

I guess that's why I am related to just about everyone in Morgan Co!

We know that Thomas Lewis, together with Gardner Hopkins, his brother-in-law, and Thomas Caskey purchased 1,100 acres of land on the Licking River at the mouth of Elkfork Creek, as shown by early land records in the Courthouse in Prestonsburg, Ky. (deed book A-54) This portion of Morgan Co. at the time was included in Floyed Co. They are all listed as residents of Floyd Co. at that time. This land was purchased from Henry French of Mercer Co., Ky., and the deed was witnessed by John Perry, James S. Elliott and William Hopkins. All records for that part of Morgan Co. which were in Floyd Co. between 1799 and 1808, burned with the Floyd Co. Courthouse in 1808, so if Thomas Lewis had been living here earlier, we have no record.

The Thomas Lewis tract included 500 acres on the North side of the Licking River at the mouth of Elkfork Creek, and the Hopkins and Caskey tract was between West Liberty and the mouth of Elkfork. Gardner Hopkins is buried in a cemetery 1 1/2 miles North of West Liberty on Ky. 7. Thomas Lewis's son acquired land across the river from the mouth of Elkfork, and at one time Francis Lewis's son, John P. Lewis, was the largest land owner in Morgan Co. A portion of the Thomas Lewis tract has remained in the Lewis family to this day; it presently belongs to Mrs. Dima Lewis, widow of Green Lewis who was a grandson of Henry H. Lewis, Thomas Lewis's youngest son. It was on this farm that Thomas Lewis built the big log house which family tradition claims, was the first log house built in what is now Morgan Co. This house stood 49-50 years ago until it was destroyed by fire.

The Thomas Lewis ancestral house located at the mouth of Elkfork on the Licking River. Shown on the upper porch are: LeRoy Fannin, Peter Lewis, Henry H. Lewis and Green Lewis. On the lower porch are: Lynn B. Lewis and Mary F. Amyx Lewis "Mr Franklin Lewis." On the mule is Roy Lewis and standing beside him is Joe Tom Pettit. J. Franklin Lewis is reading the paper. Standing by the tree are Florence Fannin and Lou Ritchie.

Thomas Lewis built this big double log house on the site of the present home of Mrs. Green "Dima" Lewis, North of West Liberty on Ky. 7. The house stood many years after this picture was taken. It was destroyed by fire around 1924. There were a lot of documents and papers burned in the attic, probably some belonged to Thomas.

My sister, Norma McKinney, and I went up to the Lewis cemetery one day last week to copy some dates. It's upon the hill above where the house stood. As we were coming back over the hill, we looked down ovef the valley, what a beautiful sight it was, with the Licking River running through the valley. Anyone could see why he picked this spot to build his log house.

From L-R Ernist Lewis, Ella Blair, Till and Willie Lewis

The childhood home of my Grandfather, Willie Samuel Lewis.

It had always been family tradition that Gardner Hopkins Lewis, born Nov. 8, 1801, was the first child of Thomas Lewis to be born in what is now Morgan Co. The older members of the family has always claimed this to be true. We have a more positive record, of where he died. My great Aunt Cora Gardner Lewis, says that she was born exactly 100 years after Gardner Hopkins Lewis I, in the same room of the house of which he died in on Dec. 12, 1887. It is the childhood home of my grandfather Willie S. Lewis, and the home of my great-grandfather Gardner Hopkins Lewis II, a grandson of Gardner Hopkins and Polly Amyx Lewis. Also Maye Lewis Patrick, a great great grand-daughter of Gardner Hopkins Lewis I, was born on Feb. 4, 1915, in the same house, 28 years after he died there. Her father and my grandfather, Willie S. Lewis, was also born there on Feb. 12, 1888. And all of Denny Lewis's children were born there. It is located in Blaze, Morgan Co., Ky.

The Amyx Family:

This well known old family name is spelled in several different ways, depending some what on where the family lives, for instance, in most places in Ky. it is Amyx, but if in Va. it is likely to be Amick. These variations of the name come from early history in a sort of phonetic since old hand-written documents had to be interpreted as best the reader could. Therefore, the name Amyx, Amick, Amix, Amecks all seemed to be about the same family. The Amyx, or more often Amick, lived cheifly in Boetetourt Co., Va., though others lived in Guilfor Co., N.C. Matthew Amick lived in Fincastle, Va. in 1771 and was released from road work as he was too old then. He had four children:

1. Matthew Amick Jr. was a soldier of the Revolutionary War who was wounded in the Battle of Guilfor Courthouse. He was granted a pension in 1786 and died at Burksville, Ky. in 1832. I only have record of 1 son.
   (1) Peter, born in Guilfor Co., N.C. in 1784, died in Morgan Co., Ky. in 1865. He was surveyor by trade as well as hunter, farmer, good citizen and churchman. Upon arriving in Ky. he settled near what is now the line between Morgan and Magoffin Co.'s on White Oak Creek. He laid out large Land Grants for himself all the way to Cincinnati.
2. Andrew Amick.
3. Samuel Amick.
4. James F. Amick "Amyx", married on April 24, 1804 to a one half indian girl Nancy Baker, daughter of Samuel Baker Sr. a full blooded indian and Suzannah Wallace. Children on page 40.

Back in the pioneer days, some of the Indians led their people in warfare against white settlers. Indian warriors usually crept up on a sleeping village or camp, and attacked suddenly. They set the village on fire with flaming arrows or torches, then shot the inhabitants as they ran out of their burning homes. Next they moved closer to club and scalp the survirors, even the women and children. Then they hurried away as quickly as they had come. It was during one of these raids that the Cherokee Indians massacred the family of Suzannah Wallace. Suzannah was a little black curly headed girl and they thought she was so pretty that they didn't kill her. One of the Indians took her back to their village and raised her as his little girl. His last name was Baker and his wife's name was Nancy and they had a little boy they named Samuel, they raised him and Suzannah as brother and sister.

When the warriors would get together and plan a surprise attack on the white settlers, the white girl had a feeling for them, even though she didn't know she was white, and she would talk her supposedly brother Samuel into going with her and they would warn the white people when the attacks were going to be.

As the old Indian grew older and knew he was going to die, he called his wife Nancy in and told her that he wanted to tell Samuel and Suzannah that they weren't brother and sister. Samuel and Suzannah were very fond of each other, and since they knew they were not related they got married. I just have record of one child

1. Nancy Baker, a one-half indian that married James F. Amyx.

In the United States, a person's ancestry usually determines his race. The U.S. government generally considers anyone with one-fourth indian blood to be an Indian. This includes Polly Amyx Lewis, my 3rd great-grandmother.

The Elliotts

"Among the young society men of the town of West Liberty in 1836, were Harrison Ellington, Jim and Sam Elliott, Jack Scott, Sam Womack and William H. Lampton. Society disported itself in dancing principally, also in theater parties and teas. We used to spread augur tree boughs into an arbor in the garden of Farish's tavern between the house and his grocery and there we danced many nights of the summer. We usually stopped before day break and got up the next morning about ten. I must say that the West Liberty of my day was rather given over to comfort and business men often times breakfasted as late as ten in the morning. Old John Cassidy used to make music for us, but there was no scarcity of fiddlers at anytime for nearly every man in the county could draw the bow." Says William H. Lampton on Nov. 20, 1896.

James Elliott Sr., born 1770 in Va., died May 26, 1857, married Hannah Scott. He was the son of Richard and Katherine Stuart Elliott The Elliotts have been traced back to being Scotch. I only have information on one son by James and Hannah:

The Perry's

In 1823 the first appointed Trustees of Morgan Co., Ky. were John Perry, John Hammonds, Samuel M. Clintock, Isaac Eldridge, William Lewis 1, John Nickell, and William Montgomery to be trustee of the same, to be governed in all respects by general law regulatied towns, subject to such provisions, and those only which this act may create.

Morgan Co. was settled between 1790 and 1805 by pioneers from Va. Families that came early were the Perrys, Nickells, Lewises, and Days, among these early settlers was Daniel Williams, a pioneer Baptist preacher and Edmund Wells. Many of the original settlers in Morgan Co. had fought under General Daniel Morgan of Winchester, Va., victor in the famous Battle of the Cowpens in S.C., and it was only natural that these veterans, when they organized the Co., should name it after their beloved and gallant leader, General Daniel Morgan.

Morgan Co.'s present population, except for about 150 families that have moved in recent years, is composed of descendants of these pioneer emigrants from Va. Their forefathers came from rural England not because of religious persecutions, but to obtain land. To this day their descendants are independent land-owners. There is very little tenancy in Morgan Co.

The 1813 minutes of the Malone Church appointed the 2nd Sat. of Sept., Ambrose Jones, Daniel Williams, Daniel Pallon and John Perry to attend at the business in Spring Church as Messenger in a conference to become a new Association. In Oct. this commitee reported they met with 6 churches at Burning Springs Church and agreed to unite in an Association. They agreed to unite in the term that the Elkhorn Association and the South Ky. Association united on some years ago. They agreed to adopt Constitution of the North District Association. They further agreed to adopt the rules of the Deacon of the North District Association and appointed an Association at the Burning Springs House the 1st Sat. in Oct. 1813.

The year 1893 saw the 1st telephone come to Morgan Co. There were times in Winter when some communities were landlocked and villagers looked on the telephone as a lifesaver in emergencies, but also as a means of entertainment.

The 1st line was built from Morehead, coming up Yocum, past Yocum Falls, across McClannahan Hill and down Lick Fork to the home of John Perry, grandchild of old John D. Perry. Perry paid $50.00 for his "box" which included installation and all phone service and made him a stockholder in the Company. The Company was first owned by Mr. Cooper from Salyersville. At this time West Liberty had dirt streets with log and gravel paths across for pedestrians. The O and K Railroad was being built from Jackson to Cannel City also the Morehead and North Fork were coming from Clearfield up North Fork Creek to join the Lenox Railroad at Redwine.

The Perry Family, now scattered all over the mountains of Eastern Ky, but belong in the foothills section of the Licking River Valley.

Daniel Perry, born in the 1740's, died in 1815-1817, he was the son of Edmund Perry. The Perry's were pure Irish descent. Daniel married in the 1760's in Flemming Co., Ky. to Eleanor "Nellie" Charlton (of the Carolinas?) born 1774-5. She was living in 1821 in Flemming Co., Ky. I just have knowledge of 1 son, John D. Perry, born 1770-1 in Va., married 1791 to Elizabeth Nickell, born 1770-5 in Va. They moved to Ky. in 1806. She was the daughter of Jean King and Thomas Nickell, (John Nickell I.) Children on page 53.

The Nickells.

Search of the law, reports of the various states in which the Nickell Family has resided. It shows that no single member of this Family has ever been convicted of a felony in America since 1745. Many members of the Nickell Family in America have won distinction in their respective communities and states. It is sufficient to say that these people have been good, substantial, law-abiding folk, steadfast in their ideals of religion and citizenship for 200 years and emintly self-reliant.

The Nickell name is spelled also Nichols and Nicholls in Ky. However, if this family is found in the foothills section of Morgan Co., the name will usually be "Nickell". If it is in Greenup Co., it can be "Nichols" or if in the West Ky., it can be "Nicholls."

John Nickell I, born 1720 in Tyrone Co., Ulster, Ireland, died 1774. He immigrated from Ireland and settled in Va. about 1775. He bought a farm in the Scotch settlement of Augusta Co., Va., in the Shenandoah Valley, in 1749, and who is pregenitor of this family in America which bears the name Nickell.

Due to impositions of heavy taxes by the English in Ireland in the 18th century, religious persecutions of Scotch Presbyterians by the Church of England and discrimenation against Irish industry and agriculture by the English. Thousands of Ulstermen came to America between 1725 and 1775.

John Nickell I, married Barbara McComb of Va. Their children were born in Augusta Co., Va. Their 6 sons all having sereved in the cause of American Independence in the Revolutionary War. I will that my wife Sally have the right to sell and dispose of any of my personal estate that is left to her as she may see proper toward the payment of my debts or for her own use. I will also to my son David, my negro boy, Absolum. I will to my son Benjamin F. Wells, my negro girl Amanda. I will to my daughter Martha Perry, my negro boy Thomas, and at the death of my beloved wife I will to my grandchildren, the natural offspring of my daughter, Rachell, the home farm. That is to say the following described tracts, the land as deeded from John Lewis and wife and Thomas Caskey and wife, also 190 acres laying on the east side of the farm, also 200 acres on the west side, the last 2 tracts patented to myself, and all 3 tracts adjoining these tracts comprise the home farm. I also will that none of the heirs of my daughter, Rachell Ellington, shall have the privilege of selling their intrest in the above named lands, unless they sell to each other until my wife's death or the youngest one of them shall arrive to the age of 21 years. The design of this clause in my will is that the land shall not pass out of the possession of the family of my grandchildren, the offspring of my said daughter, Rachell Ellington. I will the balance of my personal property not named, be sold privately for the purpose of paying my debts. I also will the following tracts of land be sold in the same way for the same purpose. Ye about 500 acres laying on Pleasant Run patented to James Sudduth and myself, also the balance of a 300 acre and 100 acre adjoining the same on the Bath side that remains unsold laying on the head of Balding and Beaver waters, also the balance of a 400 acres laying on the branches of Broke Leg, 200 out of which has been conveyed to Richard Wells, also 100 acres adjoining to the 400 acre survey and laying on main Broke Leg and also 105 acres laying on the Sugar Camp Branch, also 50 acres laying above the Paint Lick and I will that if the above property when sold shall amount to more than will pay my debts, that the balance shall be equally divided between my 3 children and my son-in-law Abraham Ellington and my wife. I will and appoint John W. Hazelrigg my executor to carry this my last will and testament, intersigned and erased before signed this 13th day of Oct. 1845.

The Henrys

Some of the first families to come to the valley of Flatwoods were people from old Va., Hillsville and Marion mostly pushing westward, searching for better land and better things. They found a new "Cannan" down around the Licking and put down roots. Families like Brooks, Cox, Sheets, Gunnel, Henrys, May, Wells, Carpenter, Dehavens, Ratliff, Kimplin, Hale, and others learned as children, that their ancestors, or most of them, entered Ky. through Pound Gap and followed natural water courses to the Flatwoods country.

Politically, the Flatwoods has had its fleeting moments of glory. In one of the Co.'s earliest elections of a seat for the Co.'s government, the Flatwoods lost to West Liberty by one vote.

John Morgan, a confederate, and his soldiers went through West Liberty, crossed the hill, went up Laural Fork and down Necombe in Elliott Co. and camped on the Billy Kitchen Farm. George Morgan was after him and came through West Liberty the afternoon of the same day and went up Long Branch and across on Elk Fork and Straight Creek and down Sandy Creek in Elliott Co. and camped 3 miles from John Morgan's men on what is Bud Pichard Farm.

John Morgan's scouts learned of the camp of George's men and sent a company who fired on them just at daybreak from the top of the hill. Then the armies went on to the Big Sandy River.

In John T. William's Company, some of the men were Will Cassity who joined at 16 years of age and is buried on Straight Creek where he lived after the war; Harve McGuire, Sid Cook, Joel Adkins, John Will Perry who was in Morgan's famous calvary and is buried in Lexington; Lewis Henry who is buried at Index; Neal McClannahan who was killed on Devils Fork by the Union soldiers; Chambers Adams, Wess Cox, George Phillips, Mose Turner, John W. Hazelrigg who died at Mt. Sterling; Dr. Will Gevedon who died in 1935 at the age of 93; Howard Lewis, Rebel Bill Lewis son of Ellen Caskey Lewis and Francis H. Lewis (Thomas Lewis); Devel Joe Adkins, Green Sexton and Dave Cook.

The first man killed about West Liberty was Jimmie Davis, who lived in the gap near Clifford Elams house. Humphrey and his men were coming down the road when Davis, an old gray-headed man, strong in his sympathy with the South, decided to fight his own war and fired on the army. They returned the fire killing him instantly. They came on into West Liberty and John Hazelrigg went up the hill opposite Long Branch and fired on them from behind a tree. They returned the fire and a splinter put out one of his eyes.

Capt. John T. Williams, a Confederate leader, was one of Morgan Co.'s most colorful characters in the Civil War. Handsome debonaire, about 5'10", with steady, piercing eyes, he commanded his men in many skirmishes in and around Eastern Ky. during the battle between the States.

The Captain came by his soldiering and patriotism honestly, for he was a grandson of Daniel Williams, a Revolutionary War soldier, and one of the first settlers in Eastern Ky.

John T. Williams was born on Elk Fork, Morgan Co. Ky., on Oct. 24, 1822, he was the son of Squire John T. Williams. He was intelligent in battle, but fearless, according to reporters, and had only to appear in a group of soldiers for them to look on him with awe and respect. He and his men held Morgan Co. for the South in the struggle.

The Captain married Miss Rebecca Henry, grand-daughter of John Henry Sr. and after the war, they settled on a 1,000 acre farm at Liberty Road, a few miles from the Co. Seat town of West Liberty.

In addition to operation on his farm, he ran a water mill and dealt in livestock. With no banks in the entire region between Prestonsburg and West Liberty, Williams became a "Finance Company' to his neighbors and friends, lending money on occasions.

Any money the soldier came by during his fighting or in business, he converted into gold as soon as possible. Gold was the money of value in those days and did not depreciate.

It was by accident, that knowledge of the Captain's kettle of gold became known.

His nephew, John T. Blevins, stayed at the Williams home and worked around the house and farm. Blevins was the father of the late Andy F. Blevins, the Morgan Co. Tax Commissioner.

One day just before leaving his farm on a business trip, Williams instructed Blevins to clean out the stalls in the barn, to clean all except the stall where he kept his prized saddle horse, Old Buck.

When the nephew finished his job in the early afternoon, he returned to the house. Mrs. Williams asked about his work, and he told her he had cleaned all the stalls except Old Buck's. Mrs. Williams then assigned him the task of cleaning out the remaining stall, lest the Captain be disappointed.

During the work on Old Buck's stall, Blevins' manure fork hit a container beneath the manger. He uncovered the kettle and found that it was a 2 gallon copper kettle and was full of gold coins. He placed the kettle back and recovered it.

When Captain Williams returned home, he was informed by his wife that Blevins had cleaned out the stalls except Old Buck's and that she had instructed him to clean that one also.

That night Captain Williams came to his nephew and asked him point-blank, "Did you find it?" Blevins answered "Yes, I did."

The Captain told Blevins that he could do work around the house the next morning, but he himself would do the feeding and milking.

Blevins watched his uncle the next morning and after Williams had finished his work, he took a burlap sack and mattock and struck out across a bottom. He then crossed Caney Creek and went up the hill on the South West side of Caney. He then watched as the Captain crossed between 2 branches, followed a fence row and then disappeared from sight between 2 gum trees. He was gone 2 hours.

In 1884 Captain Williams became ill and realizing that he had not long to live, he sent for his nephew, Blevins. By the time Blevins could ride to his uncle's home, the Captain was paralyzed and died soon after.

Blevins always felt that his uncle meant to reveal to him where the kettle of gold was buried.

So far as anyone knows, the gold was never found and remains buried on a plot of land near Liberty Road in Morgan Co.

Thomas Jefferson Henry, born in Morgan Co. Ky. in 1843, son of Anne Allen Henry and Lewis Henry that settled in Va. and is originally from Holland. Thomas J. picked a site that today is bound on the South by U.S. 460. There, Henry found plum and crab apple trees and a sulphur spring and built the original Henry log cabin along side a wagon road leading from West Liberty "the Co. seat" to Index. The cabin stood near Index until dismantled in 1970-71, the logs were moved to Caney for the memorial park at the Wardie Craft farm.

Francis Hopkins Lewis

The first house in West Liberty was built by Elder Daniel Williams, his Bible on one side and his long gun on the other, had come preaching and scouting through Morgan and had stopped at a spring to drink, where West Liberty is now located. When finally he was persuaded to leave Montgomery Co. and settled near the river, he chose the spring site as a place to build.

Early settlers, anxious to have a preacher near, helped clear 5 acres of land and raise the cabin in 1804. Lending assistance were Francis Hopkins Lewis, the oldest son of Thomas and Hannah Hopkins Lewis; also Robert Caskey, a kinsman of Pioneer Thomas Caskey.

Daniel Williams and Edmund Wells were near neighbors in that far end of then Floyd Co. Both built their cabins on a line, the Wells home, ½ mile North of lands that decades later would be called the Luther Blair property. Thomas Lewis was 4 miles North near the mouth of Elk Fork.

One hundred years later Daniel Williams' cabin would be gone, maybe only a chimney rock or two There lay on the ground. Standing just above the cabin site would be a tall white frame house occupied by Dr. R. D. Sparks and his wife Florence Hutchinson. About 50 years later the Doctor's wife would be gone, then the Dr. and family, the house, and a motel would crown the rise of the small hill. The motel would be owned by a descendant of pioneer Thomas Caskey: Georgia Caskey Stamper and her husband Woodrow L. Stamper. It would be a haven for travelers as was the Williams' cabin.

First Morgan County Court: Francis Hopkins Lewis, same in 3rd district, made oath and gave bond with E. Wells and Samuel McClintic; surities in pen of $2,000. Francis Hopkins Lewis is appointed Commissioner of the taxes in this Co. for the present year.

The Carters

The Carter Family were French Huguenots and the name is also spelled Cartier and even Cartea. Carter is a familiar name, indeed, and can be found in every corner of Ky., particulary in the land of hills. The name is entwined with from their life, with making a good living, with churches and with leadership in many phases of life. Some of these of the name Carter are Democrats, sone are Republicans, and alnost all churches are Represented by the name.

Col. John carter, emigrant, born 1620 in Eng., died 1669 and was buried at Carotman Plantation. He married Sarah Ludlow and two other wives. He was a great explorer, and received a large grant of lands, in Va., fron the English King. He settled there and called it Red Lands. Thomas Jefferson bought his holdings fron this estate. The John Carter Mansion is still standing and was never owned, ot occupied by anyone other than the Carters.

There were other children,but I only have record of one child.

Child of John and Sarah Ludlow Carter:

1. Robert "King" Carter, born 1663, died 1732, heired his father's lands, then obtained another large grant adjoining it. He married 1688 to Judith Armistead, died 1699. He married 2nd Elizabeth Landon, died 1710.

Children of Robert "King" and Judith Armistead Carter:

1. John Carter (Robert "King", John Carter) born 1690 in Va., died 1742/3, married Elizabeth Hill. From John Carter, the last of the land proprieters, descended by their mothers, such men as William Henry Harison, Robert E. Lee, President Benjamin Harison, and Benjamin Harison, a signer of the articles that made us free. Children of John and Elizabeth Hill Carter on page 143.

2. Robert Carter.
3. Judith Carter.
4. Ann Carter.
   And others.

Children of John and Elizabeth Hill Carter:

1. Charles Carter, born 1732, died 1806, married his 1st cousin Mary Carter, died 1770, married 2nd Ann Butler Moore, Charles and Ann Butler Moore Carter's daughter, Ann Hill Carter Lee, (named for Charles Mother) became the mother of Robert E. Lee. This making Robert E. Lee 2nd cousin to Ammon and Joseph Carter Sr.

2. Elijah Carter, (John, Robert "King", John Carter) born 1733, died 1812 in Va., married Judith Chastain born 1745, daughter of Rene and Judith Martin. She was a sister to Rev. Rene Chastain of Buckingham Co., Va., now West Va., father of Magdalene Chastain, who married her 1st cousin Joseph Carter.

Children of Elijah and Judith Chastain Carter:

1. Joseph Carter Sr. (Elijah, John, Robert "King", John Carter) born 1757 in Va., died 1850 in Morgan Co., Ky. He was a Rev. War Soldier. He married his 1st cousin Magdalene Chastain born about 1766 in Buckingham Co., Va., died before 1840 in Morgan Co., Ky., daughter of Rev. Rene and Ann Ford Chastain. Children of Joseph and Magdalene Chastain Carter on page 146.

2. Elijah Carter.

3. Ammon Caretr, (Elijah, John, Robert "King", John Carter) born 1765 in Buckingham Co., Va., died Oct. 20, 1851, married Mary "Polly" Burnett bornAug. 8, 1773 in Buckingham Co., Va., she was the daughter of James and Sabra Burnett I just have record of 1 child of Ammon and Mary Burnett Carter, David B. Caretr. See page 153.

Ammon Caretr went to Princton, Scott Co., Ala. And while there, David B. Caretr, his son, got into trouble over hitting a guy, out working on a boat. (Ammon owned a plantation down there with over 20 families of slaves). After David hit him he said "I guess I hit him to hard". He got scared and came to Ky. He hunted his Uncle Joseph Caretr up and stayed with him. When Joseph's daughter Virginia Jane's 1st husband, Joseph McKinney died, Davi married her, she being a 1st cousin of his.

When Ammon died, David and his daughter, Betty Caretr, road horse back and went to Ala. to get his inheritance, which was just $800.00 after some of his people took part of his share. They were mad at him for leaving. He also received 1 nigro woman. David and Betty were gone 3 months.

Henry Lee Gevedon, gave me this information, which he said his Aunt Betty Carter, David's daughter, told him. He said she never married, and she came and stayed with them alot, and told him all about their trip to Ala.

In 1805, Joseph Caretr Sr., a soldier in the Rev. War, together with his wife, Magdalene Chastain, Carter and family came to Ky., and settled in Montgomery Co., which was later Bath Co. as Bath was not a County until 1811.

Rene Chastain of Va. gave his 3 daughters, Lydia, Rhoda, and Magdalene and sons Martin and Elijah 1,000 acres on Slate Creek, Bath Co., Ky. Martin married Elizabeth Ayers. Rhoda married James Ragland and Magdalene married Joseph Carter and raised a large family on Slate Creek, then went in their old days to Grassy Creek, Morgan Co., Ky., and built the 1st house on Grassy Creek where the new home of Waldo Lacy now Stands.

"The Christian Church at old Grassy Creek, Morgan Co., Ky. was congregated in the year of our Lord, Oct. 26, 1833." But even before that, early settlers in the County worshiped in a log structure they built on a hill overlooking broad acres of land watered by Grassy Creek.

Joseph Carter Sr. with his family attended the 1st church there in a log house, and are buried in the Cemetery a top the the hill, on the right of the present church house. Buried in the same cemetery are slaves, by the families of their owners.

Down in the valley, a hundred or so yards from the cemetery, desendants of these early-day families of the Rev. War, gather the third Saturday and Sunday in Sept. for the annual meeting of Christian Churches in this area and homecoming observance of Old Grassy Church.

Bath Co. Ky. deed book "K" P. 19, March 4, 1837, between Elijah Carter, Joseph Caretr, John Gevedon and Judith his wife, Jacob Ragan and his wife Ann Ragan. The 1st 3 in the Co. of Morgan and the others of Montgomery Co. and State of Ky., of the 1st part and James Ragland of Bath Co. and State of aforesaid. Consideration of $1.00 sells all their title and and intrest they may have in land in Bath Co., Ky. Corner of Rene Chastin survey of 600 acres - same was conveyed by Rene Chastain to Magdalene Carter, the wife of Joseph Carter and which this day conveyed by said Joseph Carter and Magdalene his wife to James Ragland. 1st party have relinguished all right in land that might descend to them as hiers and children of Magdalene Carter the wife of said Joseph Carter late Magdalene Chastain and none other. Signed by Elijah Carter, Joseph Carter Jr., Jacob Ragan, Ann Ragan and John Gevedon.

This is the place where Joseph Carter raised his family, and James Ragland raised his family, and then Elijah Carter who married Eliza Ragland, daughter of James Ragland and Rhoda Chastain, raised their family here.

Rhoda Chastain and Magdalene Chastain were sisters, daughters of Rene and Ann Ford Chastain.

There is a Family graveyard at this place where James Ragland, Wm. M. Ragland, Wm. Ragland, Elijah Carter, Alfred Carter, Martin V. B. Carter, infant son of A. and M. A. Carter, Reubin Carter, Wm. Carter, Joseph Carter, James Carter, Gillie A. Burbridge, Eliza, wife of Elijah Carter, Thomas Garett, Emma Garett, Mary, wife of David Martin, James S. Martin, J. F. Glover and Bertie Clay Henry are buried, and there might be others buried there without stones.

Joseph Carter Sr. (Elijah, John, Robert "King", John Carter) born 1757 in Va a PVT Soldier in the Revolutionary War with the Va. troops, died 1850 in Morgan Co., Ky. and is buried in an old graveyard, on a hill at the right of the church house, near Grassy Creek, Morgan Co., Ky., married Magdalene Chastain born about 1766 in Buckingham Co., Va., died before 1840 in Morgan Co., Ky., daughter of Rev. Rene and Ann Ford Chastain .

Joseph Carter Sr. was the 1st of his family to cross the Mountains from Va. to Ky. and plant a homestead. Some of them went to Alabama.

As Joseph Carter came over the Cumberland Gap, the trail was most dangerous.

Fertile lands, tales of wealth, and good hunting prompted him to move forward , together with his family came to Ky. and settled in Montgomery Co. in 1805. Which was later Bath Co., as Bath was not made a Co. until 1811. He then came to Morgan Co. Ky. Here a large family was reard and in time the children married into other large families and from them sprang a large and important lot of todays people.

He has many descendants scattered over Ky. and many other States.

The Peytons

"The ancient and knightly family of Peyton", as it is known to England, its real motherland, dates back to the 1st Norman period in East Anglia. By tradition and what history we know its origins were among the Norman conquerors of England.

Reginald de Peyton, who died in 1136, was the 1st person to bear the name of Peyton. Walter de Malet and some of his family were given many feudal honors or estates in England. In some years later, persons holding large manors began taking surnames from their manors, and one of these, Reginald, a younger son of Walter de Malet, who was lord of Peyton Hall in Ramshold and of Peyton Hall in Boxford and in Stoke-by-Neyland, took the name "de Peyton". In the year of his death, A.D. 1136, King Stephen confirmed to Reginald's son and hier, John de Peyton, the lands of his ancestors. Reginald de Peyton is said by some authorities to have had 3 sons, John Sr., William, and Walter, but it is from John that the suffolk- Cambridge line of Peyton come down to modern times.

The fore-going John de Peyton Sr.'s eldest son, John de Peyton was the Progenitor of the Va. Peytons, whereas his 2nd son, Robert de Peyton, lord of Ufford, took the name "de Ufford".

The Peytons in Va. and in the Western and Southern area to which they have migrated have been landowners, sometimes of Plantations, sometimes of a small farm and as "landed gentry" they have assumed their responsibilities as freeman in a free country, serving as Vestrymen, magistrates, members of the Legislative assemblies, and in time of Peril, as members and officers of the militia. Occasionally one has been elevated to high stations.

Thomas Peyton of Bisley, Gloucester, England, Progenitor of Stafford Co., Va., branch of the Peyton Family, born 1585, probably in Horsley, buried Feb. 17, 1648, Bisley Par., Gloucester, England, married July 19, 1606, Bisley, Gloucester, England, to Anne Green, born 1590.

Cameron Blake Fairchild is the youngest member to be put in the Lewis Family book.

It sure was a shock to us all. I was gathering pictures for this book, and Alma Lewis Fairchild, the Mother to be, told me if I would waite until the last of October or the first of November to publish my book, that I would have another picture to put in it. I thought she was kidding, as she had been married 12 years and this was her first child. She missed the first edition. But I have an appointment for a second printing Friday October 22, and the baby was born October 13th. It just made it in time.

The following pages are stories and Pictures of the Lewis and Peyton clan. Some of the pictures were, when Grandpa and Grandma, Willie and Corda Lewis and her parents, David and Sarah Peyton, were living, of how they dressed, traveled, and how some of them earned extra money, by logging, traping, hunting and fishing. Also to put extra meat on the table. The generation of today is still carying on the tradition, it is in their blood. They got most of their hunting and fishing skills from the Peytons.

My 3rd Great-Grandfather Major Peyton did a lot of Hunting. Him and some of his buddies were out huntin one night and a panther, (black Leopard), got after them, it ran Grandpap Major down over a bluff and he grabed hold of a bush to keep from going on over the ledge. The others went on and killed the panther. Panther's meat wasn't very tastey. But Grandpap said he would eat it, if the rest would. So they built a fire and roasted it. His buddies changed their minds, when it was ready to eat. But Grandpap said he would eat the first peace, if they would eat some. It was dark back away from the campfire, and he took a peace and tore it off like he was eating it and he just let it fall down in front of him, and he told the others how good it was. His buddies said they could eat anything he could. They were hungry where they had been out hunting and hadn't come across anything to eat. They eat to much and it made them sick.

This branch is between Yocum and Blaze, KY., and it is still called Panthers Branch today.

This was told to me by my Great Aunt Mary Peyton Lewis, Grandpap Major's Great-Grand-daughter.

After my Grandparents, Willie and Corda Peyton Lewis married. They were at the home of her parents, David and Sarah Hall Peytons, down on Licking River. Her Parents took a lot of fish from the river by fishing and gigging, and one night while Grandpa and Grandma were there, the men all went gigging. They were wadeing up the riffles bare-footed, and sticking their feet under the rocks and logs to run the fish out, and Grandpa stuck his foot under a log and his foot stuck out on the other side, and he thought he was running out a big fish, and you can guess what happened to his foot. yes! right down through his foot went the gig. and came out the bottom. I don't know if he ever went gigging after that or not. That was probably his first and last time.

The Peytons realy delighted in getting a joke on someone, or dressing up in some garb and scareing them half to death.

One day my Grandpa, Willie Lewis had bought a mule from some guy, and the guy had storied to Grandpa. The mule was no good. So Grandpa took the mule and went back on him. He came back and was telling the family that the man didn't like it because he took the mule back. Their 2 oldest boys, Cletis and my dad, Mervil was about 7 and 9 years old, and they were up next to the road cutting sprouts. And their mother Corda Peyton Lewis thought how funny it would be, to dress up, and pretend she was the old man that Grandpa had bought the mule from, and scare the boys. She put on Grandpa's pants, coat and old hat she pulled down over her eyes, and went out through the barn and told him what she was going to do. Their daughter, Maye was just about 6 years old, she saw her mother dress up, but she didn't know what she was going to do. So she followed her out to the barn where her dad was cleaning out the barn. Grandma sliped out around the boys and came out the road, and came up to the boys and spoke to them, changeing her voice. She told them that she was the man that had got into it with their dad over the mule, and he was just going to take it out on them. He reached in his pocket like he had a gun and was realy going to hurt them. This was told to me by my aunt Maye Patrick. She said her brothers sailed over the fence and came running toward the barn for their lifes, with Grandma right behind them. Maye said even though she seen Grandma dress up, it scared her to. They told their dad that the man that he got into it with was going to kill them. Grandpa was in on the prank, so he grabbed the pitch fork and pretended he was going after her with it, and he grabbed her by the coat. Then Cletis recognized her. He got so mad, he told her then, he would get even with her. I don't know how long it took him, but he got even.

Grandpa and Cletis was planting corn, and they were running out of corn seed, so Grandpa sent Cletis back to the barn to get some seed before they run out. He had to get the seed from the corncrib, and he was still thinking of how to get even with his mother. So he thought if he left the corncrib door open, his mother would see it and come to shut it, to keep the chickens out of the corn. You could see the door was open from the house. And he knew it wouldn't be very long until she would be out there to shut the door. Cletis craweled back under the crib, and it wasn't long till here she came to shut the door. Just as she was shutting the door, he grabbed her by the leg, and liked to scared her out of her wits. Mad dogs were bad back then, and she thought one had done got her. Cletis craweled out and said, I told you I'd get even.

I've also heard how my aunt Maye Patrick, has been known to dress up and scare people. And I have a little touch of it myself.

One day when My Dad, Mervil Lewis, was around 4 or 5 years old. He wasn't minding to well, as little boys will do. Grandpa thought he needed a spanking, and he bent him over and was giving him a good whipping. Most parents whipped hard in those days. Oh! but Dad was pretty stuborn, and he thought if his Dad, Willie, could hit him, that he aught to be able to hit back. So he grabbed him around both legs, and every time Grandpa hit him across his bottom, Dad was kicking his shins. When the battle was over, Dad went in the house and ask his Mom, which one won. I'm sure if Dad would have stood still and took his punishment, the ordeal wouldn't have lasted nearly as long. I think he decided there and then, that there must be a better way to get along with his Dad. From then on he probably done what he was told.

This house and barn was built by Mervil and Hazel Lewis, and where they raised their children. I was born here in a different house.

Deborah Utterback

Deborah "Debbie" Utterback was born 1821, wife of Joseph Utterback, lived up a branch, along side of Debbie Hill. This hill aquired its name from Deborah. Her brother, name unknown, came to visit her one day and ask her what that area around there was called, and she said up through the Poppin Rock Tunnel was the Post Office, by the name of Paragon. But as for as she knew, where she lived didn't have a name. Her brother said from now on it will. I am going to name this hill after you, Debbie Hill. It's Rt 519 just before you go into Rowan Co. It was narrow, rugged and very steep.

I was born in 1941 about a mile from Debbie Hill, but didn't know where the name came from, although I had wondered about it, until about a week ago my Aunt Maye Patrick and I were visiting Chris Utterback, and looking through his old pictures and came accross Deborah's picture, and he told us who she was, and that Debbie Hill was named for her. It was exciting to hear this, and also to have her picture. As for as I know she is no relation to the Lewis's, but most of them have traveled this road, and everyone from far and near still calls it Debbie Hill.

The back cover photo is of my Grandfather and Grandmother, Willie S. and Cordelia Peyton Lewis. He was setting on a disk, and she was standing behind him. The mules were Beck and Barney. People back then depended on a pair of mules or horses to pull their plows, disk, mowing machine, rake, wagon, or sled.

They made their living from the land, raised all their fruit and vegetables. Raised hay, cut and stacked it to feed their animals. Everyone had to work very hard to help put food on the table. It was far from the conveniences we have today.

But I remember how we loved to go to Grandmas and Grandpas, but they had a big dog, they called "Old Rover", that we were afraid of. We would go down to the gate and holler or yell for Grandma, until she came to the door, to watch the dog until we got in the house.

My mind takes me back in time to those "wonderful days". The adults would get together and tell scary stories or all about the news in the community as there were no phones then. Us children, my 5 brothers and 2 sisters, and all the cousins would catch lightning bugs in a mason gar, play hide and seek or fox and dogs. We didn't have computers or the things children have today. I often wonder if the boys and girls in today's ultra modern times, with all their elaborate and expensive toys, really have as much fun as we had with the crude things we had to invent and make in those days, when people had time to set and chat with each other, and their children.

We found that the metal part that went around the hub of the remains of an old wagon, and a stick with a cross piece fastened to the lower end to guide and roll the tee wheel with, could occupy a childs time. The boys made little wagons from empty spools that Grandma and Mama gave them, and built roads to run them on. They made slingshots from a forked limb, bow and arrows, and stilts that they could wade across the branches on. The girls would make play houses and cut paper dolls out of the sears catalog. Or we would go under the cliffs and roast potatoes or corn on the cob. We always found something to do if we were not working.

I grew up in the remote hills of Morgan Co., My Grandparents and parents were farmers and life was more simple. I would never trade the way I grew up and the values they taught me.

Mom would gather us children all in and put the best we had on, and walk to church on Sunday, as there weren't many cars around at that time.

I remember Christmas's seemed so far apart. We thought it would never roll around. Our Grandpa, Willie, would dress up as Old Santa and bring our usual presents; an apple, orange, banana, and a penny stick of candy is what each of us got. We never expected anything more. But sometimes there would be a small toy. One Christmas my Aunt Maye Patrick got my sister, Jean, and I a big doll apiece, and I thought they were the prettiest dolls I had ever seen.

My childhood memories of my Grandma's kitchen, as we gathered around her wood stove. It served 2 purposes, for cooking and warmth. In winter I'd warm myself by the stove on cold snowy mornings. I'd ease up close to the stove and drink a second cup of hot coco. As "soup beans" simmered, and steamed the kitchen windows, and while the white fluffy snow came down outside.

When I stayed all night with my cousin, Loretta Lewis, at Grandma's house. I got up early to watch Grandma build a fire in the wood stove. She first took off the stove eyes. After that she added kindling, stick by stick. Then she added wood from the wood-box that had been filled the night before. Last she added a little kerosene. I watched as she took a long match from the match box and struck it on the surface of the stove. She tossed the match into the stove and the kindling began to burn. Grandma knew when to add more wood at just the right time.

In summer the heat poured from the stove in relentless waves. Beads of prespiration trickeled down her face as the scents of delicious pies, cobblers, and gingerbread filled the air. and seems like Grandma could make the best cornbread. The heat was momentarily forgotten when the family sat down at the dining room table, to a noon-time meal of crispy fryed chicken, beans, potatoes, and yes her golden crusted cornbread.

The memories are cherished of a loving Grandma, a lifestyle that has passed, and a family bound together by love and hard work on her wood stove, in her country kitchen.

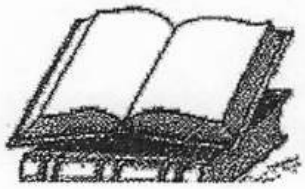
My Lewis Ancestors



First Generation

John Lewis, b. 23 June 1748, Upper Pariah Twp., Fairfax Co. VA; d. 17 Feb 1835, Rush Co. IN. He md. 1st Nancy Reeves ca. 1771, Loudoun Co. VA; 2nd Mary Powers ca. 1772, Loudoun Co. VA.

John served in the Revolutionary War starting in July, 1776 when he was drafted in Capt. George West's Co. of Minute Men in Loudoun Co., Va. for 18 Months. This company was held in readiness, but was not called to duty. Shortly after, he 'removed west of the Alegheny(sp) Mountains'. In May, 1777 he joined Capt. Mason's Company under Col. Abraham Sheperd at Fort Wheeling for 1 month. He was drafted and served as a drummer for 6 months in Capt. Isaac Pierce's Co. of Wood Rangers under Maj. Henry Taylor. This company marched up the Ohio River to Bakers Fort where they remained for three months and then to Rariden Bottom for another three months. He moved to Washington Co. PA and 1780 he was drafted to guard and pack provisions to the army at Fort Lawrence on the Muskingum River. He served for 1 month as a 1st Lt. in Capt. Bates Co. under Col. Campbell at Fort Laurens on the Muskingum River. He was allowed a Pension in Indiana in 1833 amounting to $30.33 per year. At the time of application on 04/10/1833 he stated his age as 84 Years.

The family was in Mason Co. KY by the late 1700s before going to Rush Co. IN.

There are several opinions on who were the parents of John. Michael Cook in his PIONEER LEWIS FAMILIES suggests that they were probably Thomas Lewis and Mary Moss, but other researchers disagree.

In this old photo, contributed by Bonnie Ruth Lewis of Wrigley, are, back row from left, Willie Sam Lewis, Ella Lewis (later Mrs. Ollie Blair), Allie Lewis (later Mrs. Oliver Wilson); middle row, Gardner H. Lewis II and Ann Eliza Lewis Lewis, Dennie Grant Lewis; front, (in chair) Ernest P. Lewis, Tillman Amyx Lewis and Mertie Lynn Rose Lewis (later Mrs. Taylor Wilson). Another sister, the late Cora Gardner Lewis (Mrs. Jim Henry Lewis) was born after this picture was made. Wilie Lewis married Corda Peyton. Dennie married Lillie Perry. Tillman married Lillewah Fugett. Gardner H. Lewis II was son of Tillman Amyx Lewis and Hermione Lynn Rose Elliott Lewis. His grandparents were Gardner Hopkins Lewis I and Mary "Polly" Amyx Lewis and Samuel Scott Elliott and Frances Perry. Ann's father was Wm. H. Lewis, son of William Henry Harrison Lewis, son of one of Morgan County's first Justices of the Peace, Wm. Lewis, second son of Revolutionary War soldier, Thomas Lewis. Ann Eliza Lewis was daughter of Wm. Henry ("Red Head Bill" or "Squire Bill") Lewis and Ellen Lewis, who was known in the Lewis clan as "Grandma Nellie." Ellen was daughter of Francis or Frank Lewis, son of the Revolutionary War veteran, Thomas Lewis, and the first tax commissioner of Morgan County. Her mother was Ellen Caskey, daughter of Thomas Caskey and Lydia Hopkins Caskey.

1860 SLAVE SCHEDULE OF MORGAN CO., KY.
Division 1 & 2

(as you can see, these people owned slaves. I would say that Green Trimble is the James G. Trimble listed in the 1860 Census. He is listed as being worth $7000.00. Our Lewis Family were not black and did own slaves.)

Thomas "Chucklehead Tom" Lewis was s/o John L. Lewis & Elizabeth Elliott and grandson of Thomas Lewis & Hannah Hopkins.

Nancy Ann Lewis was d/o William M. Lewis & Jane/Jean Perry and granddaughter of Thomas Lewis & Hannah Hopkins.
Thomas Lewis & Nancy Ann Lewis were married Mar./Apr.27, 1843 by John Mynheir in Morgan Co. They had the following children: William E. - John L. - Francis F. - Gardner - Emaline Taylor - Ellen Nickle. (Taylor Lewis & Eleanor Nickell were married 30 Sept 1869)

Emaline 'Emma' Lewis married 1st., Francis Marion Tolliver on 19 Apr 1877, Morgan Co. at Thomas E. Lewis'. Wit: John Phillips & James F. Oakley. W. W. Cox officating.
One child was born of this union, William Thomas 'Willie'
On 7 June 1883 Emaline married Jesse Cogswell by E. W. Ellington, Morgan Co. (I have not checked census for children of this union) Jesse was son of Thomas Cogswell & Elizabeth 'Bessy' Day. Jesse was grandson of Jesse Cogswell & Damy Lewis. (Damy was d/o Thomas Lewis and Hannah Hopkins.)

William Thomas, s/o F. M. Tolliver & Emaline Lewis, married 1st., Allie Fugett, d/o James Fugett, on 13 Sept 1900 in Morgan Co., Ky. Children born to this union were: Goldie - Mable (one died from diptheria and the other burned to death while parents were milking) they were buried in the Cemetery, Will Henry Fugett, on his farm between Big Lick and Blaze. Graves are unmarked but were found and identified by Ernest P. Lewis.) Hazel Marie Fugett Tolliver and John Virgil. Children born at Blaze, Ky.

Frank H. Lewis & William M. Lewis, s/o Thomas Lewis & Hannah Hopkins are my ancesters. My mother and father both go back to Thomas & Hannah Lewis. I believe this covers what you wanted to know. I have a picture of Jesse Cogswell & Damy Lewis. He was a Baptist Minister. Jesse Cogswell & Diadamie Lewis were married 15 Oct 1818, Floyd Co., Ky.

These records were taken from Census, and marriages of Morgan Co., Ky.

Death Comes To John A. Lewis, 91, Rowan Leader

One of Rowan County's best known pioneer citizens who started his long and successful career as a blacksmith when there were many livery stables but no automobiles died Thursday.

John A. Lewis passed away at the St. Claire Medical Center.

He was 91 years of age.

Mr. Lewis had been seriously ill for over a year from a series of heart seizures, and failed to sustain the final massive stroke.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday morning at 10:30 at the Church of God in Morehead of which he was a member. Reverends C. Gerald Eggleston and Scott Griffith, both close friends, officiated at the last rites. Burial was in Brown cemetery with the Masonic ritual at graveside Mr. Lewis had been a member of the lodge for over a half century.

He was born in Morgan County Jan. 15, 1870, but resided in Rowan County all his adult life.

On Jan. 22, 1902 he married at a little church at what was then Vale, Ky. (Rowan County) Sarah Alice Adams, who survives. If Mr. Lewis had lived seven more days they would have celebrated their 68th wedding anniversary, probably an all-time record in Rowan County.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis became the parents of two sons and six daughters.

The sons, C. Roger Lewis and Kenneth Lewis, both of whom survive, are among Morehead's leading businessmen and active in community, charity and civic affairs.

The surviving daughters are – Mrs. Marie Adkins, Flemingsburg; Mrs. Sue Coleman, San Jose, Calif.; Mrs. Bernice Barbour, Lexington; Mrs. Ruby Vencill, Morehead; Mrs. Vivian Heitz, Louisville; and Mrs. Juanita Geis, St. Louis.

thriving business. He sold Rawleigh products as a sideline and later on a full time basis.

With the advent of the automobile he took up engineering and worked and learned under a qualified engineer so as to become a surveyor, and platted many of the farms and property in Rowan and area counties.

A staunch Republican leader, he easily won for Rowan County Tax Commissioner about 30 years ago.

Successful in his every job or business venture, Mr. Lewis came to the attention of the officers of the Kentucky Farm Bank Land Association. He joined the personnel of this organization, and was elected President of the East Kentucky Farm Bank Land Association. Farmers were able to obtain federally subsidized or guaranteed long term loans at low interest. Mr. Lewis was active and a strong supporter of rural electrification, and believed in a better financed program for rural and secondary roads.

He also conducted classes in the Moonlight Schools of Rowan County, the first adult education in the United States, created by Cora Wilson Stewart who later headed the national program.

He wrote a book, which was printed and released 11 years ago. The title: "Changes 80 Years Have Made." The publication is, in a sense, a chronological recitation of his experiences, and the advancements and economy from the horse and buggy days of 1880 to the jet airplane of 1960.

While in good health, Mr. Lewis rarely missed a meeting of the Masonic Lodge at Morehead. He served in almost every position the lodge has.

The bearers – Phillip Lewis, Steven Lewis, Mark Lewis, Jim Barbour, Bill Barbour, Kermit Vencill, Kenneth Vencill and J.L. Eldridge. Lane Funeral Home cared for arrangements.

Dear Juanita,

I have intended to write you for sometime. You got me started researching the Lewis Family Tree several years ago when you gave me a great deal of information which you had collected. I have continued the quest and encountered much frustration because they were so prolific, and trying to separate them into appropriate families seems sometimes to be an impossible chore.

I am prompted to write now because I was able to get from Dad (Curt Lewis) a copy of your book "Days of Anger, Days of Tears". I thoroughly enjoyed reading the absorbing story, and continue to use the book as a reference in my search of family history. In that regard, you have included in the book a photograph of "The Goodans". I believe it to be the families of Richard and Tom Goodan. Their brother, John, was the Father of my Mother-in-law, Madge Goodan Turner (married Claude Turner). I would very much like to contact other members of the Goodan family, and wondered if you might give me a name and address, or, if you prefer, could you give them my address and let them know I am anxious to talk with anyone who would have more information on John Goodan and Matilda Gee.

Getting back to the Lewis's--can you confirm whether the following records are correct --

Gardner Hopkins Lewis, b. 11-08-1801, m. Polly/Mary? Amix, 5 OCT. 1825
father - Thomas Lewis

Gardner Lewis, b. 1828, parents - John & Betsy Elliott

Gardner Lewis, b. 7-28-1831, m. ? Cottle, father -
Francis H. Lewis

Gardner H. Lewis, b. 5-7-1852, m. Lucretia Link, parents - Thomas E. & Nancy Lewis

Gardner Lewis, d. 1901 b. 1857, parents - Capt. Thomas & Peggy Lewis

Gardner Lewis, b. 1877, parents - Francis Taylor &
Eleanor Nickell

Son of Capt. Tom Lewis + Margaret Lewis

From gravestones in Lewis Cemetery at Blaze, Ky., I recorded:

(Gardner Hopkins Lewis - 22 Feb. 1857 - 7 Aug. 1901 (T.S.-19 Feb 1921)
Married 7 Feb 1879
Grant Lewis, b. 5-20-1867, d. 12-4-1936
Martha E. b. 1878, d. 1951 - 30 Mar 1860 - 27 Mar. 1900
(Dau. of David C. Blair + Clarinda Nickell)
Gardner H. Lewis, b. 1857, d. 1901
Ann E. b. 1862, d. 1911

I have a note that Gardner Lewis married Martha E. Blair, 2-7-1879 in Morgan County.

Questions:
1. Which of the Gardners (or Grant), if any, married Martha E. Blair?

2. Can you fill in the maiden names of the wives of the Lewis's buried at Blaze?

I'm sending, for your information, a computer printout of the information which I have on the Lewis's. The record numbers are by generations--1st (1000 numbers), 2nd (2000 numbers), etc., continuing through the 8th generation. The BACK numbers refer back to the last generation (parents of the person being checked).

I sure would appreciate any help you can give me, and if I can assist you in any way, please let me know.

Sincerely yours,

Juanita Turner

Juanita M. Turner

P.S. I have two old photographs of groups of people we are unable to identify. They appear to be circa early 1900's and were found in an old trunk which belonged to George Albert Turner, Claude Turner's father. Can you recommend a means of trying to get the people identified--The Morehead News, The Rowan County Historical Society, someone at the college, whatever?
